VOLUME II. RICHMOND, CAL., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1914. NUMBER 120

SOCIAL SERVICE BUREAU IS NAME CHOSEN FOR NEW RELIEF SOCIETY

Father, Mother and Seven Children, Made Destitute By Sickness, Are Aided.

Miss Mabel Weed, Sociological Expert From Berkeley, Gives Outline of Work.

Richmond will not have an Associated Charities. But it now has a Social Service Bureau.

Last night at the First Presbyterian church the members of the newly formed organization, representing the religious, fraternal and other civic interests of Richmond, voted to call themselves the Social Service Bureau.

And the Social Service Bureau of Richmond went to bat right away last night for a family of nine, father, mother and seven children, who are down on their luck through no fault of their own. They were quarantined for a month with diphtheria, the father had no work, and they were without the necessities of life.

HELP FAMILY OF NINE.

Their condition was reported to Rev. Guy A. White and he provided food and clothing for them. The Social Service Bureau last night O. K.'d this act by voting to reimburse the minister. Today they are trying to get jobs for the father and mother. Both are anxious to work. The father is a skilled mechanic, and the family would not have needed assistance had it not been for the diphtheria.

They will be well able to take care of themselves again if they can have work, and this the Social Service Bureau wants to get for them. If you can help get jobs for the breadwinners in the family call up Rev. Mr. White.

This case is representative of what the new organization wants to do in Richmond, in fact, what it has already been doing individually, by lodges, churches, women's clubs and other agencies. The Social Service Bureau was formed that all these relief agencies which have been working alone may be combined in one big body, that can handle the work more systematically and efficiently.

WANTS JOBS, NOT "CHARITY."

The name "charity" was purposely avoided, because it is not the prime object of the organization to give something to somebody, but to work for conditions that will make it unnecessary for anyone to need "charity." The Social Service Bureau wants to help the "down-and-out" upon his feet, so he can walk alone, and to do all it can to keep anyone from going "down and out."

MISS WEED OUTLINES WORK.

This policy was emphasized by Miss Mabel Weed, a social service worker of Berkeley, who addressed the assembly. Her declaration that the work of such an organization should be primarily for the prevention of poverty rather than for relief only, met with the hearty approval of her hearers.

The first draft of the by-laws was read and other routine business of organization transacted. Miss Rita Conley sang for the assembly. The meeting was in charge of M. B. Roberts, temporary chairman of the Bureau. Another meeting will be held next Friday.

Pastor to Preach Farewell Sermon on December 20

REV. S. K. SKINNER TO GIVE UP WORK AT SAN PABLO BAPTIST CHURCH—HE HAS MADE MANY FRIENDS.

Rev. S. K. Skinner will preach his farewell sermon in the San Pablo Baptist church Sunday, December 20.

Rev. Skinner has made a great many friends not only with the Baptists, but with people of other denominations who worked with him. A combination of circumstances so depleted the membership of the San Pablo church that it has been decided to discontinue services.

The best of feeling exists between the pastor and the people of his church.

Skinner has not decided definitely where he will go, but in his own words, "feels certain that the Lord has some place for him to carry on His work."

GERMANS CHECKED WITHIN 14 MILES OF WARSAW, IS REPORT

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Within 15 miles of their goal—Warsaw—the five Autro-German columns, which for five days have been making steady progress, have been checked. The attacks of the main column between Lodz and Lowitz, delivered with great force, says Petrograd, were repulsed. Seven times the Germans faced the Russ trenches and seven times were repulsed with tremendous losses. Military critics say that any check must seriously interfere with the Teutons' plans, which was a formidable converging move that had for its objective point Warsaw and the relief of Cracow.

Up to Dec. 8 the Servians have captured 25,000 prisoners, 155 guns and great quantities of ammunition. They have regained most of their territory toward the Bosnian frontier and defeated the Austrians in the north.

PARIS—The Germans attacked with terrible ferocity in the region of the Ypres, but were repulsed. It is claimed that the attacks were a screne for a general retreating movement.

INSANE MAN FIGHTS POLICE WITH RAZOR IN LOCAL HOTEL

Temporarily deranged, O. P. Moran attempted suicide at the Terminal Hotel yesterday morning by hacking his throat and wrists with a razor, and held two policemen at bay for a considerable time by flourishing the razor and throwing furniture at them.

Patrolmen Eigenman nad Wright finally captured him and rushed him to the Abbott emergency hospital, bleeding from numerous cuts about the throat and wrists. He was then taken to the county hospital at Martines by Officers Eigenman and Kreamer.

Moran is 38. He has been working at the Pacific Porcelain works. He said he was divorced and that his wife lives in Los Angeles. His parents live in Winfield, Kan.

Moran's cuts are not in themselves dangerous, said Dr. Abbott, but he lost a great amount of blood before he was captured, so that his condition is serious.

ALLEGED BAD CHECK PASSER HELD TO ANSWER: BAIL $2000

Lawrence Goldman, colored, was yesterday held by Judge Lindsey to answer to the Superior Court on a charge of forgery. His bail was set at $2000.

Goldman is charged with passing a bad check for $26 on Harry Stetsos, proprietor of the Coney Island Restaurant on the west side.

Assistant District Attorney A. S. Ormsby at the preliminary hearing yesterday used as witnesses against Goldman, Chas. Shields and Fred Jackson, both negro bootblacks of Richmond; Police Sergeant MacGowan, Inspector Phillips and Alexander Patison of the Coney Island Restaurant.

Snee was 4 2years old. He was an employe of the Union Oil Co., having left the employ of the Standard Oil in this city a short time ago.

He was well known and popular in Richmond and the news of his death will prove a severe shock to his many friends.

Donaldson, former railroad conductor, and recently employe of the Union Oil Co., who dropped dead at Oleum Wednesday, Deputy Coroner Small wood had been unable to get any trace of the dead man's relatives up to a late hour last night. Donaldson had told acquaintances he had a son and daughter in Los Angeles.

Judge Denies Writ for Emerson in a Very Few Minutes

WILL BE TRIED IN MARTINEZ JANUARY 26—DEMBY SAYS WAY IS NOW CLEAR.

It took Judge W. M. Conley of Madera county, sitting in extra sessions, at Martinez yesterday, a very few minutes to tell Attorney A. P. Bray, counsel for J. P. Emerson, that his petition for a writ of habeas corpus was denied, and to order the erstwhile employe of the M. M. & E. to the custody of the sheriff.

The writ was asked for on the allegation that not enough evidence had been presented at the preliminary hearing to hold Emerson on the charge of burglary.

Emerson's trial on the charge of having high explosives in his possession was set for January 26 before Judge Conley at Martinez.

"All obstacles in the shape of legal technicalities have now been removed," declared Deputy District Attorney A. S. Ormsby last night.

Emerson is to be tried before the Superior Court at Stockton on a similar charge February 2.

HOLDUPS ACTIVE ON SAN PABLO AVENUE

NEGOTIATING TO SELL ALL J. NICHOLL'S WEST SIDE REAL ESTATE

Contour Maps Being Made and Other Details Arranged Prior to Definite Closing of Gigantic Property Sale.

Large Part of West Side to Change Hands—Keep Names of Purchasers a Secret—Full Details to Be Given Out in Two Days.

That a real estate deal, involving a million dollars and the biggest in the history of Richmond, rumors of which have been persistently circulated for several days, is about to be consummated, was confirmed last night, when it became definitely known that John Nicholl is to sell his entire holdings in Point Richmond.

T. Park Jacobs, manager of John Nicholl Company's Richmond holdings, when asked about the gigantic sale last night, said:

"Negotiations are under way. I can give you the full details in two days. Contour maps are being made and other details looked after. That is all that I can tell you at present."

The property has had a valuation of $1,500,000 set upon it. What the actual purchase price agreed upon is not known.

Nicholl owns several hundred acres of property on the Potrero hills, 60 lots in the States street district, the City Hall, interests in the Bank of Richmond and other property.

Nicholl some time ago decided to sell his west side property and since that time has refused a number of good offers. It is said that a syndicate of capitalists with headquarters in San Francisco are to be the buyers of the property.

The controlling stock of the John Nicholl Company was left J. Nicholl Jr. when his father died last July.

The elder Nicholl owned practically all of Point Richmond at one time and a great part of what is now Richmond. He amassed a fortune selling the property, as he bought most of it when Richmond was grainfields and tide lands.

LEIPZIC OFFICER IN S. F. WEEPS AT NEWS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—Franz Giesemann, the only survivor of the German cruiser Leipzic, heard today while lying in a cot at the German hospital, the scanty details of the sinking of his ship and the death of all his shipmates. "I served on the Leipzic for seven years," he said, with tears in his eyes, "and I knew all the Leipzic men." He was a petty officer on the cruiser and broke his shoulders while the Leipzic was lying off San Francisco. He will have to use crutches all his life.

NO TRUCE FOR CHRISTMAS.

The Czar has refused to be a party to the Christmas truce. The war is to go on. On Christmas Day, Christ's day, the nations will continue their carnival of slaughter. Giant guns will boom in the Argonne, Flanders, France, and in Poland. Submarines will continue their murderous work in the waters that wash the shores of the Christian nations.

But perhaps it is just as well. To murder on the day after Christmas is little less a crime than to murder on Christmas Day.

A HELPING HAND AT 25 CENTS PER HELP.

For years San Francisco has held its Christmas festival in Golden Gate Park. There was always a Christmas tree for the kiddies and it was taken for granted that there was to be no charge.

This year, if the growing protest doesn't keep on growing and prevent it, the Christmas tree will be placed on the Exposition grounds and a 25-cent admission will be charged to everybody over 12 years of age.

The Exposition officials have issued a warning that the children must keep off the grass, which seems to be the crowning folly in the whole mercenary business.

Hundreds and hundreds of children will be deprived of the city's big Christmas tree because the Exposition wants that 25 cents per head.

To modify the 25-cent business the transportation committee of the festival has announced that parents too poor to pay car fare will be given car tickets free if they leave their names at the City Hall. They will have to admit that they are so poor that they cannot afford 10 cents for car fare and then sign their names. And, incidentally, how could people too poor to spend 10 cents for amusement get to the City Hall? Pay two car fares to get two free tickets, we suppose. That doesn't seem to be very good business.

And in the meantime San Francisco is getting an exceedingly poor brand of advertising. Most likely some of the big city's quarter snatchers are wishing by now that they hadn't meddled with the poor kids' Santa Claus.

POOR LITTLE HARVEY.

Poor little Harvey W. Wiley Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, has never tasted candy, cake or ice cream and he has arrived at the advanced age of 4 years.

The son of the famous pure food man takes with him graham crackers when he goes to parties. He may grow up to be a mental and physical giant, with a beautiful complexion and curly hair—and he may not.

It's pretty tough on a fellow to eat crackers when he wants ice cream just to prove the theories of his dad. And besides there might be some day a tack in one of those crackers, swallowing which young young Wiley would get appendicitis.

THE MINERS' SONG.

In Colorado when the convention of miners adopted resolutions ending the strike of fifteen bitterly hard months, 200 delegates closed the meeting by singing their strike song to the tune of "The Battle Cry of Freedom."

They sang their song, the song of the strike, the fight for fair conditions, to that thrilling melody, and, says the dispatch, many of them wept as they sang.

In the investigation now being made at Denver into the reasons of the strike, it has been established that the Standard Oil Company paid publicity men to write the employers' side of the controversy, that Elbert Hubbard received $200 for his whitewashing of the operators in his magazine.

But all the money in the coffers of the Standard Oil Company can't down the men who called for peace and sang their song so all the world might hear. And that song will be heard by the world, though it cost nothing, while the paid stories of the employers will be heard by a few that couldn't be converted anyway.

AN ISLAND STOREHOUSE

By M. QUAD
[Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.]

Two thousand miles due north of the island off Mauritius and almost between that and the Seychelles group is the lone island of Agalegas. It is an island about six miles in circumference, with its highest point about 100 feet above the sea. There were no inhabitants up to 1882, though traders and shell gatherers often called there for wood and water.

It was in the year 1881 that the captain of a trading schooner entered the port of St. Louis in the Mauritius to tell a wonderful story about this island of Agalegas. He had called there for wood and water and to make repairs, and while his crew was at work he explored the island. Amid the rocks he discovered a great cave, and from that cave he had taken and brought away two elephants' tusks, a box of silver bars and a jewel handled sword. He was a cunning chap, this trader, and he had got the stuff aboard without his crew being the wiser and had said nothing about the cave. He did not report his find to any consul or other official at St. Louis, but after hanging about for awhile he decided to make a confidant of the firm of Dayne & Co. This was a French trading and exporting firm, and as I was in its employ I came to hear the story first hand.

The plunder Barcas had brought away was worth $10,000, but he assured us that this was a mere flea bite compared to what had been left behind. He had counted 250 tusks, which did not include all. He had counted 180 boxes of silver bars, worth over $1,000 per box, but there were others behind them. There were bales, boxes and barrels he had not attempted to open, and he believed the contents of the cave would pan out $1,000,000 and ballast a trading brig. It was a very dignified and respectable firm, that of Dayne & Co., but it got down off its high horse pretty fast to make a bargain with Barcas to bring that treasure away and dodge customs officials and government authorities. What they offered to do after a consultation was to fit out a ship, bring the stuff off, convert it into cash and give him a quarter. It wasn't a liberal offer on their part, but Barcas closed at once, and the enterprise was turned over to me to engineer.

The firm had a trading brig called the Foam, and as soon as she arrived in port she was cleared of cargo and her crew discharged. I then began to pick up Madagascar sailors and soon had ten of them, with an English A. B. who had cut and run from a merchantman. Barcas was to act as captain, and I was to go along as supercargo. It was easy enough to deceive the Madagascarites, while the sailor was satisfied with an offer of double wages and $500 extra. We left Mauritius with the ostensible object of visiting the islands to the east to establish trading stations, but when we had made good our offing we headed for the north and the island of Agalegas. We were on our way to fill our craft with plunder from a storehouse filled hundreds of years before and worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, but the voyage was prosaic. None of us were excited over it until the last day, and then it was through fear that the cave might have been discovered by some other caller.

We ran into a bay and dropped anchor at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and before midday Barcas had visited the treasure house and reported all safe.

Our first move was to establish a camp on the highest spot of the island and divide our forces. I took charge of the land party and Barcas of the brig. My party removed the plunder from the cave and carried it halfway down to the beach, and his men carried it aboard and stowed it away. On a certain evening when we knocked off work I figured the value of the gems already taken out at $1,500,000, and there was yet a week's work to remove the rest. The day had been hot and stifling and the work harder than usual. The cook was half an hour late in rubbing his eyes open, and he had hardly reached his feet when his shout of surprise alarmed the rest of us. At some hour during the night and so quietly that not a man of us had been disturbed the waters had retreated in every direction from the shores of the island until there was only the bed of the sea to look at. Here and there a deep hole created a little lake, but one could have walked for six or eight miles without wetting his feet. As the waters retired our craft had gone too.

I had lived in the east too long to not know what was coming. We were as high as we could get and could only wait for the peril. It came as the sun rose. We heard a booming, roaring and crashing and next minute caught sight of a tidal wave sweeping in. That wave was seventy feet high, and as it rolled across the island from the north to south its foamy crest was only thirty feet below where we stood. There were three waves, each moving at a speed of 100 miles an hour, and then the sea settled down to its usual level and soon grew quiet. A thousand acres of forest had been swept away and the whole face of the island changed in a moment. Our spring and our camp had been left untouched, but there was no longer a cavern, no longer a bale of goods, no longer a brig laden with a king's ransom. An earthquake at sea, a mighty convulsion of nature 500 miles away, had robbed us of brig, crew and treasure and left us on an almost desolate rock in mid-ocean to wait for the passing craft that rescued us.

HOW TO WRAP AND PACK YOUR X-MAS PACKAGES, BY UNCLE SAM

Here are a few suggestions regarding your Chrhistmas parcels.

The parcel post has greatly facilitated the distribution of Christmas gifts throughout the United States. It is expected that the amount of this sort of mail during the coming holiday season will exceed all previous records, due, largely, to the increased weight limit, reduced postage rates and other extensions of the service during the past year.

Co-operation of the public with the postal authorities is urged as essential to the prompt and satisfactory handling of the Christmas mail.

Mail your parcels early.

The postal regulations permit senders of early packages to place the words, "Do not open until Christmas," on the wrapper of the parcel.

In preparing parcels, use good quality wrapping paper and good strong twine; place the name and address of the sender as well as that of the addressee on every parcel; use pen and ink to address every parcel; do not seal parcels or place writing inside unless you wish to pay the first class postage rate.

If parcels contain fragile or perishable goods they should be so marked; prepay correct amount of postage; if you have no way of knowing the correct amount, bring your parcels to the stamp window and have the clerk rate them for you.

Insure valuable parcels. Parcels valued at not more than $25 may be insured by the prepayment of a fee of five cents, and parcels valued at not more than $50 by a fee of ten cents.

Do not seal the flaps of your parcel with Christmas seals unless you wish to pay first-class postage.

Practically all foreign countries forbid the use of adhesive charity or Christmas stamps on mail matter. It is therefore advised that their use be discontinued in connection with all foreign mail. All parcels bearing such stamps will be returned to the writer or sent to the dead letter office.

The use of such stamps is permitted within the United States when affixed to the reverse side of the mail matter. It is advised that they be not used on the address side of letters because of possibility of confusion during busy periods and the possible delay of their delivery.

R. R. MAN TELLS HOW MEN AND WOMEN WERE KILLED IN LUDLOW, COLO., BATTLE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—President Wilson today received a telegram from Governor Ammons of Colorado saying he did not think it advisable to withdraw all the federal troops from the strike districts at this time. The President wants to withdraw the troops and will communicate further with the governor.

SIGNAL OPENED BATTLE.

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 11.—Information concerning the battle of Ludlow, on April 20, between militia, mine guards and strikers, was brought out today at the hearing of the Industrial Relations Commission. H. C. Farbet, agent of the Colorado and Southern Railway at the Ludlow station, testified that two signal bombs fired from the militia camp opened the battle.

Farber declared he had been prevented from dressing wounds of a Greek boy by Lieut. K. E. Linderfelt, who took the lad away as a military prisoner. He said he had tried to protect women and children of the miners during the battle.

Secretary Wilson said today the United Mine Workers of America had arranged to transport to other coal fields those former strikers unable to get work in Colorado and that the refusal of the Colorado operators to re-employ many of those men would not cause trouble.

BUSINESS AGENT LOOKS OVER STRIKE SITUATION

Business Agent Heckman of the Building Trades Council went to Pittsburg yesterday to look over the strike situation there. About thirty boilermakers walked out several days ago when Johnson & Lantarie attempted to cut their wages from $4 to $3.60.

With Heckman went Peter Throll, who has been delegated by the Building Trades Council to represent the council during the strike and to generally supervise it.

Pickets have been put on the job and the shops are absolutely tied up.

LOCAL DOCTOR FIGURES IN SLINGSBY HEARING IN LONDON YESTERDAY

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The deposition of Mrs. O. H. Blain, a San Francisco nurse, in which she described the visit to the San Francisco sanitarium of Dr. W. W. Fraser, now of Richmond, by Mrs. Slingsby when a baby was turned over to her, was the chief evidence submitted in the hearing of the Lieut. C. R. Slingsby case. Slingsby is endeavoring to establish the legitimacy of the child he claims is his son.

The nurse's deposition alleged that Mrs. Slingsby went to the sanitarium of Dr. Fraser, where, following a conversation with the doctor, a baby was turned over to her.

Pearl White, Richmond Theater Tomorrow

The crowd that witnessed the all-star production of the Jesse Lasky company, entitled "The Circus Man," were more than satisfied last night. Theodore Roberts plays the leading part. The play is intensely interesting and brings a vivid realization of what circus life is. The scenes are an exact reproduction of Barnum and Bailey's big tents. Lasky's company traveled two weeks to find suitable settings for the drama.

Tomorrow an all-star program with the 15th installment of "The Perils of Pauline" and four vaudeville headliners.

WHY SHE REFUSED.

My little niece, Beatrice, is fond of little round sausage cakes, writes a Chicago Tribune contributor. One morning the link sausages were served instead. Beatrice refused them indignantly. STYLINSH BUT SHE'S FREEZING.

Oakland society matrons and budding debutantes are aflutter over the remarks of Mrs. Francis Cutting at the birthday luncheon of the parliamentary law class, composed of transbay ultra fashionables, held in Oakland last week, when feminine attire came in for a scathing rebuke.

Mrs. Cutting responded to a toast, "Women's Dress," and during her talk declared the stylishly dressed woman was a suffering martyr. She said:

"The women of this town are suffering, suffering dreadfully, suffering nobly borne, with smiling faces. Women who live in good houses, the best houses, even riding in automobiles, but suffering, nevertheless.

"Ten per cent—no, I might say 90 per cent—are freezing. Last year I saw a young girl, the cloth of whose gown would not have made one good sized trouser leg for the head of the family. The skirts of the evening are fuller, but at what cost. The sleeves have disappeared utterly. The waist is but a whif of chiffon.

"Will you not open your purses and raise a fund so that next year, when people come from all over the world, they may find California, that has covered her ground so luxuriously, has also clothed her women abundantly."

BENCH WARMERS CHANGE TO STARS IF GIVEN CHANCE ON OTHER CLUBS

LAST YEAR SAW NUMBER OF BASEBALL CAST-OFFS MAKE GOOD WHEN TRANSFERRED TO NEW MANAGEMENT.

It is a well known fact with baseball managers that some players who display nothing but bench-warming ability on one team will shoot right up among the stars if changed to another club. Last season showed a prominent number of such cases.

Leon Ames pitched grand ball for the Cincinnati Reds last season. George Stallings claims he is far and away the best curve ball pitcher in the country. Leon could rarely win a game for the Giants in the heyday of their championship glory. Arthur Fromme, who came to the Giants from the Reds, seemed to be a crackling pitcher, but he was no marvel last summer.

BECKER A JOKE TILL CHANGED.

Beals Becker, a ribald jest with the pennant-winning Giants when allowed to remain in the game more than a couple of weeks at a stretch, hit .325 for the Phils in 138 games.

Heine Groh, a utility man with the Giants, never displaying the future possibilities of Milton Stock, hit .288 in 139 games for the Reds and stole 24 bases, while Stock batted .263 for the Giants in 115 games and stole but 11 bases.

Charley Herzog, supplanted at third by Arthur Shafer with the Giants, swung along at a .231 lick for the Reds in 138 games and stole 46 bases. Shafer retired from baseball. Eddie Grant, one of the Herzog-Shafer successors at third, hit .277 and stole 11 bases in 88 games.

RUDOLPH AND GOWDY GIANT CAST-OFFS.

Arthur Wilson, who fell down on the assignment when he had a chance to take the place of the wounded Meyers in the heat of the pennant drive of 1913, was a star with the Feds last year.

Richard Rudolph and Hank Gowdy, who displayed only ordinary ability as Giant recruits, helped win a world's championship for Boston.

EVERS' CONDITION UNCHANGED.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The condition of Johnny Evers, captain of the Boston National League club, who is confined in a local hotel suffering from pneumonia, was reported unchanged today.

While Evers' sickness is severe, physicians in charge gave out the assurance that there was no danger of it terminating fatally.

BREAKS NOSE IN FALL FROM WAGON

Edward Moore, 524 Barrett avenue, is suffering from a painful injury to his nose, which he sustained when he was thrown from a wagon he was driving at Nineteenth and Webster streets, in Oakland, yesterday.

SPORTING GOULASH

Roy Corhan has written the Seal management that his reported jump to the Feds is a false alarm and that he wants to sign with Frisco next season.

* * *

Jim Morley, who blew into Frisco with a lot of imaginary money to buy a Coast League franchise for San Diego, has gone back home without spending any of it.

* * *

Joe Tobin, Coast League star, is making his winter meal ticket in an Oakland hat store. Lefty Leifield is running a grocery store in St. Louis.

* * *

Reported that Frank Dillon will be ousted from the management of the Angels next season.

* * *

Gunboat Smith has been matched for ten rounds with Jim Coffey next Tuesday night. The Smith-Tommy McCarthy fight was called off.

* * *

Jimmy Rohan, manager of Joe Azvedo, has severed all business relations with the Portugese fighter, because Joe accepted a 20 round match with Sally Salvadore in Sacramento without consulting him.

* * *

Sam McVey, 216 pounds, and Battling Jim Johnson, 222 pounds, both black, fought a ten round on decision bout in New York. McVey is matched with Jack Johnson for a fight in Cuba or Mexico.

* * *

Joe Bayley, Canadian lightweight, will fight Rough-house Burns at Vancouver, Christmas day, and then will sail for Australia under contract with Snowy Baker.

* * *

Willie Ritchie is howling again for a fight with Freddie Welsh. Willie would get what he really wants quicker if he would ask congress to vote him the sub-treasury.

* * *

A big string of standard bred trotters and pacers from the estate of the late Colonel Kirkpatrick will go under the hammer at Pleasanton race track to-day.

20-ROUND BOXING WITH A DECISION NOW PERMITTED IN BUT ONE STATE

BOYS CAN FIGHT IT OUT IN LOUISIANA—HAVE TWELVE-ROUND BOUTS IN MAINE BY EVADING LAW.

Now that boxing fans are talking up a movement to have the fighting game re-established in California under the supervision of a state commission, as in New York and Wisconsin, it is interesting to know just how the fight game fares in other states.

Louisiana is now the only state where 20-round bouts are allowed. A referee's decision is also allowed. New York and Wisconsin allow ten-round sessions, but prohibit decisions by the referee. This rule is evaded to a certain extent by betting on the matches and leaving the decision to a group of newspaper sport writers.

HOW THEY RUN THE GAME.

The following list gives an idea of how the game is run in that one-third of the United States where there is legal authority:

New York—Ten-round, no-decision bouts, with commission to regulate the same.

Louisiana—Twenty-round matches with decisions.

Wisconsin—Practically same law as in New York.

Maine—Six-round bouts, with decisions, but no commission.

Tennessee—Eight-round contests, decisions and no commission.

Ohio—Ten-round bouts with no verdicts, optional.

Kentucky—Ten-round bouts, optional in various communities.

Washington—Optional contests, but not permitted to any extent.

Texas, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Missouri, Oklahoma, Colorado, Wyoming and Georgia—Short round bouts, optional.

MAINE SLIPS ONE OVER.

In Maine, where there is no state commission, but a law allowing of six-round set-tos, a funny twist has given the fans 12 rounds in each important event. The principals will box furiously for six rounds and then will come an intermission. Somebody sings a song or does a dance step for three or four minutes—no longer. Then the same fighters waltz back to the limelight and double up, giving twelve rounds in all.

WE'LL HAVE THAT SERIES IF WATER IS TURNED OFF

CALWAS AND OUTLAWS READY TO GO TO BAT IN POST SEASON GAMES.

The Winehaven team of the Midwinter League will play Cheek's Outlaws, pennant winners in the league, the first of a series of three post season games next Sunday.

This goes if the weather man shuts off the water and lets the sun shine today and tomorrow, said Scorer Hugh Macauley, emissary of Manager Miller of the Calwas, last night.

Arrangements have been made for the use of the First street grounds. The game is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock. The teams will be the same as those that played in the regular league games, except that Happy Bradley, captain of the Redmen, will appear in a Winehaven uniform for the series.

STANFORD READY FOR BASE BALL

BILLY ORR WILL COACH THE BOYS AND PRACTICE WILL START IN JANUARY.

The schedule for the 1915 baseball season at Stanford University is practically complete.

There will be two games with the Olympic Club. A series of seven games will be played with Santa Clara University, two of these to be played at Santa Clara. The Cardinal tossers will meet St. Mary's College five times. This series includes the usual game on Washington's Birthday at St. Mary's grounds in Oakland.

Cliff Ireland will again invade the "farm" this season for a series of four contests. Two games will be played with Hal Chase's stars from San Jose.

Practice will begin the first of January. Billy Orr will coach the team.

BABY IS VICTIM OF DIPHTHERIA

Irene Monteverde, 3-year-old daughter of Mrs. Lydia Monteverde, 1617 Bissell avenue, died yesterday morning from diphtheria after being sick only 24 hours, and Mrs. D. Barraco, an aunt of the little girl, living at the same address, was yesterday stricken with a serious attack of the same disease. The little girl will be buried this afternoon. Interment will be private.

RICHMOND IN REVIEW

I HATE to do it,
BUT I AM going
TO THROW away
ALL caution
AND DEFY the public
AND DO my worst
AND print
SOME poetry.
I WOULDN'T do it,
BUT THE office boy
SAID SHE was a peach.
I WASN'T here
WHEN SHE came in,
BUT THE staff photographer
TOOK a shot
AND GOT her
LOOKING in the door.
HERE SHE is:

THE office boy,
WHO SPENDS all his time
AND money
AT THE movies,
SWORE she looked
LIKE THAT there Pauline
THAT'S always
FALLING off of
THEM THERE cliffs
AND OUT of balloons
AND GETTING et up
BY tigers,
AND RUN over by trains,
BUT anyway
BEFORE THE film runs out
SHE appears
ALL DOLLED up fine
AND SMILES at the hero,
WHO SAVED her life.
SO IF the poetess
LOOKED LIKE Pauline
I'LL PRINT her poetry
OR DIE IN the attempt.
I DON'T ordinarily
GET A CHANCE to edit
SOME ONE else's stuff,
SO I told
TO GET an ax

THE OFFICE BOY.

FOR me,
AND I butchered up
THAT poem
JUST as well
AS A REGGALER editor
COULD HAVE done it.
HERE GOES!
I don't know what
I'll write about;
It must be something great;
Like Reporter W'llyum Stewart,
Or some other worthless skate.
Perhaps about the editor,
Who's in love with the Stelle Girl,
Or else about Bill Campbell,
Who was chased by the squirrel.

TO INSERT instructions
WE PAUSE here
TO ANY reader
WHO DOESN'T understand poetry
LIKE we do.
THAT LAST line
MAY SOUND to you
LIKE it isn't
EXACTLY right,
BUT THAT'S only because
YOU AIN'T a poet.
TO GET the proper swing
YOU MUST read it:
"Who was chase-ED by the squirrel."
OR IF YOU DON'T like it that way
YOU CAN GET the right effect
BY LENGTHENING the squirrel,
THUSLY:
"Who was chased by the squir-irr-el."
WHAT WE ESPECIALLY liked
WAS THE CLIMAX of the poem:
"No wonder poor John Soto
"Got a fish bone in his throat.
"He tried to swallow that fish story,
"But I guess it got his goat."
THE EDITOR OF the nut column
DOESN'T ordinarily
READ poetry,
BECAUSE THEY never print it
IN THE Police Gazette.
BUT IF William Shakespeare
EVER KNOCKED anything
OUT OF his typewriter
THAT WILL EXCEL that in beauty
AND LOFTY feeling,
WE WANT TO see it!

R. U. H. S. TRIMS LIVERMORE; TAKES LEAD OF C. A. C. A. A. AND WILL PLAY IN FINALS

STANDING OF THE CENTRAL ALAMEDA COUNTY ACADEMIC ATHLETIC LEAGUE TO DATE

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Richmond	2	0	1000
Livermore	2	1	.666
Hayward	0	2	.000
Centerville	0	2	.000

In the best game of the C. A. C. A. A. League this season, the Richmond basketball five last night vanquished the fast five from Livermore high school to the score of 32 to 25. The game was close throughout, the locals leading at the end of the first half to the score of 20 to 15.

Captain Horwitz, guard for the locals, in addition to defending his goal to perfection, made numerous field goals from mid-field. Brown, also at guard, played a plucky game, as he was suffering from a bad hand and a severe jolt received early in the game. Cox, filling McAllister's place at center, had an off evening on the baskets, but guarded excellently. Cameron was the star basketer, and as he had a good evening, he received the passes from Jones, who played the other forward position. Pierson, the only extra man, was not played, because no man would be left on the side line in case of an injury.

Under the captaincy of Sangmaster at forward, the Livermore squad was as follows: McDonald, Weber, center; Gardella and McKelvey, guards.

Centerville forfeited the Dec. 5 game to Livermore and Livermore defeated Hayward on Nov. 21 to the score of 33 to 18. The status of the postponed Richmond-Hayward game is that it will be played at a future date. The Livermore team was accompanied only by their principal.
